JANUARY SCHOOL REPORT

The cold weather and sickness on the part of some of the teachers and of many of the pupils interfered very seriously with the work of the school this month.

Owing to Miss McArthur illness, and absence from the school the last half of the month and the grouping of her pupils with those of the high school during this last week of the month, there were not the usual written examinations for grades VI-XI and consequently the best standing in those grades are not given.

Grade V — Elsa Leaf, Mary Kilgannon.

Grade IV — Murice Goodeve, Verna McDonald.

Grade III — (Miss Martin) Barbara Kubinec, Mary Bowman.

Grade III — Elsie Haysom, Tony Ponderick.

Grade II — Marguerite Cote, Mah Ying.

Grade I — Lily Bowman, Douglas Ross.

Primary — Annie Reid, Felix Brennan.

a program of drills, music, etc., will be rendered. No admission fee.

"What caused the Ottawa fire?" is a question that seems to be perplexing the Federal authorities these days. The answer is easy: Don't you remember reading in the papers just a few days before the big blaze that "Sam Hughes spoke in a mild and subdued manner." That explains it all. Something just had to bust loose somewhere.

The annual financial statement of the town of Coleman appears in this issue. It might be noted in passing that the council of 1915 ended its year's business in a most satisfactory manner, making a better showing in a financial way than was the case in any previous year.

For this good showing no small amount of credit is due to Mayor Morrison and Chairman Johnston of the finance committee, both of whom put in some pretty good work.

It is one month and seven days since President Wilson said in congress, referring to the Mexican situation: "We will aid and befriend Mexico but we will not coerce her." The smoothly turned phrase came from the same rhetorical pigeonhole as "Too proud to fight." It is the president's fondness for the official utterance of these unofficially conceived sentiments that has brought the country to its present state of intense exasperation. He speaks too readily and too glibly.

Now that the Pullman cars are being made of steel, it is announced that they will lose practically all the decorations that have designated a Pullman coach from the common variety. It is safe to bet, however, that the new Pullmans will not lose the old-fashioned notion that the cars must be either kept to hot or too cold. There seems no provision in all the architecture of the Pullman plan for keeping a normal temperature on a cold night.

A further list of names of those who have enlisted with the 192nd battalion will be published next week; also a complete list of the names of all who have gone to the front from Coleman since the war began.

The Red Cross dance held in the opera house on February 29th proved to be about the best of the kind that has yet been held in Coleman. The attendance was large, and every body present had a most enjoyable time.

Attention is directed to the sale of work which the local officers of the Salvation Army are to hold in their hall on the 18th inst. Articles of all kinds will be offered for sale from 4 to 10 o'clock p. m., in addition to which tea will be served, and

Why Not in Canada?

Scores of newspapers throughout Canada are advocating some sort of mild compulsion as an aid to recruiting in this country, and notwithstanding the definite statement of Premier Borden that conscription would not be attempted, it is worthy of note that scarcely a word is being spoken anywhere or written by anyone anywhere in opposition to this concerted campaign of the Canadian Press.

The Bulletin believes that the Derby plan adopted in England—or some plan, whereby complete information as to physical ability, family ties, and other circumstances of every man in Canada between the ages of 18 and 35 could be tabulated—would be a pretty good thing to adopt in this country.

There are thousands of young men—married as well as single—who would not hesitate for a moment about enlisting if they were satisfied that their presence was more urgently needed in the trenches than at home—if they could know that they were not making the sacrifice prematurely or unnecessarily. The Derby plan relieves the individual of the responsibility or necessity of deciding the above point. By this plan the authorities know exactly what each and every man is doing at home; they also know the requirements at the front, and when it is felt that the individual can perform better and more useful service in the trenches than at home, all the authorities have to do is send out the regulation notice.

There are thousands of married men—business men—who scorn to be classed as slackers, yet who hesitate to break up their homes until they are sure it is necessary.

The Derby plan solves this problem for them.

So the Canadian Senate holds its sessions in a museum now. Home at last, eh!

"Alberta colored men anxious to raise a battalion," reads a headline in a Calgary daily. Let 'em.

"It's an ill wind," etc. That Ottawa fire surely saved Bob Rogers from an election and a rapid ride a la toboggan.

Tom Morden, Pincher Creek, has enlisted. "If there's a scrap on anywhere on earth Tom has just naturally got to get into it."

When you see a fellow pick up a copy of the Calgary Herald and turn to the theatrical page, you needn't be surprised if he drops the sheet p. d. q. and mumbles: "Excuse me ladies, guess I'm in the wrong room."

"Personally, we think we saw a gopher," says the editor of the Saskatoon Star in a recent issue of that paper. Fifteen years ago he would have been in luck at that—then it was a case of no gopher, no breakfast as far as Saskatchewanians (get that) were concerned! Them winz the days.
